The pH Scale

The term pH is a measure of the degree of acidity or alkalinity of a liquid.

The pH scale runs from 0 (very acidic) to 14 (very alkaline) with a pH of 7 being neutral. The scale is logarithmic. In simple terms, a pH of 10 indicates alkalinity ten times greater and possibly ten times more harsh than a pH of 9. A pH of 11 indicates alkalinity of one hundred times greater than a pH of 9 and a pH of 12 is a thousand greater. The same applies to acid solutions with a pH of 6 to 0.

The scale below gives an interesting comparison of the pH of well-known industrial and household products:

Institutional Systems

Wayne institutional laundry installations are custom designed to fit the individual requirements of each client. Most systems use either three, four or five chemical products injected directly into the washer by a proportioning system. Regardless of the number of chemicals used, a full service installation requires five chemical steps.

1. Builder/Break: high pH additive to soften water and break down oily soils.
2. Detergent: makes water wetter, penetrates, lifts and suspends soil.
3. Destainer: generally a chlorine or oxygenated bleach to keep linen bright and fresh smelling.
4. Sour: neutralizes high pH builder to prevent fabric deterioration and eliminate skin irritation.

Typical Systems

Workhorse: combination builder, break and detergent (1 & 2)
Destainer: sodium hypochlorite bleach (3)
Tandem: combination sour and softener (4 & 5)

4 Product

Dust Control

Disposable Dust Mop

Dust Magnet Sheets
Dust Magnet sheets build up a slight static electric charge as they are used. Dust is attracted to the thick fiber pile much like a magnet. The more you use it, the better it works. Because dust clings, it does not come off when cleaning overhead, making this product very versatile. They hold more dirt and clean more surface area than any other disposable, dry dust mopping system.
